General Comment

Hello

It is my understanding that this proposed regulatory change would limit or prohibit information, education, and the use of options in IRA's. I have used options for years in my retirement and non-retirement accounts to generate income and to reduce risk and volatility in my plan/account's assets. Limiting my choice of investment vehicles is not in my best interest as we negotiate our path for investment success. The investment companies I deal with do a good job of education and limiting the use of options only to those parties who have shown investment experience. Limiting my choices is NOT in my best interest. Please do not restrict my use of options in my IRA or other trading and investment accounts. Thank you
